Dear Sir or Madam,

This is an opportunity for you to create and give scholarships to help improve the growth of future and current national security workers, at the same time, build workers for companies working in international environments.

The mission of the Lint Center is to create and award scholarships for National Security Workers, their children and scholars, to further the study National Security, cross-culture studies and global understanding. The Lint Center is starting a new scholarship, which will focus on National Security workers who are improving studies in international relations and cross culture studies. This will foster greater understanding and cooperation with our allies.

This growth of linguist and international specialist for the US government creates downstream international specialist and linguist for US Business. (This government training is excellent and could not be replicated by US Business at an affordable cost.)

There are many ways to donate. For scholarship organizations, any amount is helpful and combined with others to fund a scholarship. Some will give enough for a one year scholarship, which we suggest to be at least above $500. Others will desire to have a self-funding annual scholarship; these we feel should be at least above $35,000, which should generate at least $1000 a year with ability to rise to a higher level of scholarship in out years.
